Lesson 2. Design and operational parameters

Question Bank – Answers

1. Degree of saturation of air is given in terms of relative humidity

2. Ratio between active power and apparent power is given as power factor

3. The measure of energy content of the material is termed as calorific value

4. Octane number is a value used to indicate the resistance of a motor fuel to knock.

5. Biological oxygen demand is the indicator of the presence of organic matter in the given sample.